SOCIAL INCLUSION

SOCIAL INCLUSION

- What is exactly social inclusion?
- Social inclusion means that everyone has the same rights and making sure that no one is left out or excluded. This also means that they have equal opportunities to: fair employment, Use healthcare, public transport and other services, have a safe, secure home, deal with personal crises such as ill health and lastly access to education and training.

SOCIAL INCLUSION'S IMPORTANCE

- Why is so important social inclusion?
- It is very because it has to do with the mental health of the people. If someone is all alone, doesn't have anyone to help him and the other people bully him he has a great chance of having many mental problems.

THE PLACE WHERE EVERYTHING BEGINS

- One of the biggest reasons of social exclusion is SEN. Someone with SEN will meet many people in his life , some will be good but most of them will be bad. That's why they must have been properly prepared from young age.
- That is the importance of social inclusion at school, to be able to manage their problems and not be closed to their own self.

- Nowadays it is a challenge for kids with special educational needs (SEN) to attend to school. Unfortunately kids with SEN have a difficult time to be included in class and that has a lot of consequences such as lack of self-esteem, happiness and further social, emotional and psychological problems. That is the reason we need to act fast in order to provide them an ordinary life. There are three factors of social inclusion at school: The parents, the teachers and last but not least the other students.

THE PARENT'S ROLE

- The parents of the kids with SEN must prepare them of what they will be dealing out of their family environment. They also have to encourage them to hang out with other children. Another idea is to sign them up to a team sport so they could learn how to socialize with other kids.

THE TEACHER'S ROLE

- The teachers need to have awareness and knowledge regarding classroom dynamics in order to create a classroom climate where all students help and cooperate with each other. They also must sensitize the other students to help them and to be good examples for those children. In addition they could have a friendly relationship with the kids with SEN and do some extra lessons with them so they will be better at their subjects.

THE STUDENT'S ROLE

- The students play the most important part of all (by my opinion). They must learn the problem of the kid with SEN and ignore it like it isn't there, instead of bullying him. They can also hang out with their classmate and make him feel comfortable. One of the biggest mistakes young people do in our days is making the kid with SEN feel uncomfortable and that has disastrous result for everyone.

- A kid with SEN deserves to live like every other person, so don't make fun of him nor treat him like he is nothing, he has a soul and he deserves better. Besides don't forget Ludwig Van Beethoven, Frieda Kahlo and Stephen Hawking who became famous even if they had SEN.
